Enjoy a Noontime Serenades at City Hall

Treat yourself to a mid-week break and join the City of Rockville for its new Noontime Serenade. Relax and enjoy the classical sounds of professional musicians in an indoor setting.

This free entertainment series will take place at noon on Wednesdays in May in the Mayor and Council Chambers at Rockville City Hall, 111 Maryland Ave. You should plan to bring your own lunch.

Musikanten will kick off the series on May 6. Formed in June of 1979 as a "lab chorus" for the Masters degree work of director Kerry Krebill. Performances include concerts at the National Gallery of Art, the National Portrait Gallery, Smithsonian Galleries, the Kennedy Center, as well as seven European tours. Musikanten Sings Music of Russell Wollen was nominated for the 1991 Choral CD of the Year by Chorus! magazine, and has been played on the national radio program "The First Art."

On May 13, Capital Brassworks will perform unique arrangements of classical, jazz, and popular selections. Individual members perform with the National Symphony Orchestra, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, Kennedy Center Opera Orchestra, and the Rochester Philharmonic. Members also have performed with notable brass ensembles such as the Dallas Brass, the Empire Brass, and the Miller Brass Ensemble.

The Rockville Concert Band Woodwind Quintet will perform on May 20. The Quintet composed of flute, bassoon, clarinet, oboe, and french horn. Individual members perform with Friday Morning Music Club,

Call for Entries for the F. Scott Fitzgerald Short Story Contest

The F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee is calling for entries for its short story contest. All entries must be postmarked no later than July 15, 1998.

The reading of the winning short story has been a highlight of the prestigious annual F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference, scheduled this year for Oct. 2 and 3 in Rockville. Previous winning short stories have gone on to publication.

The contest rules are as follows:

- All residents of Maryland, Virginia, and Washington D.C. may submit entries.
- Entries must be typed, double-spaced, no longer than 3,000 words, and previously unpublished.
- All entries must include a cover sheet that includes the writer's name, address, and telephone number. The writer's name should not appear on subsequent pages of the story. The cover sheets will be removed on receipt at Rockville City Hall, and each entry will be assigned a number before it is sent to the judges. All entries will be assigned for judging.

- Entrants who would like the story returned must include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
- Entries should be sent to: F. Scott Fitzgerald Conference/Contest, Rockville City Hall, 111 Maryland Ave., Rockville, MD 20850. First prize is $500 plus the invitation to read the story at the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference award ceremony on Oct. 3, at Montgomery College, Rockville. Three runner-up prizes of $100 each also will be awarded at the conference. Winners will be notified the week of Sept. 21, 1998.

The F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary

Conference Committee is the sponsor of the contest. Major supporters of the Conference include: Peerless Rockville Historic Preservation Ltd., the City of Rockville, the F. Scott Fitzgerald Society, Montgomery College, the Writers' Center, Gazette Newspapers, Rockville Cultural Arts Commission, and the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference was established in 1996 as part of a year-long celebration of the great American writer's 100th birthday. Capacity crowds attended the first two conferences. Fitzgerald, author of "The Great Gatsby," "Tender is the Night," and other classic novels and short stories, spent childhood summers with relatives in the Rockville area. He, his wife, Zelda, and their daughter, Scottie, are buried among other relatives at historic St. Mary's Church in Rockville.

F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference To Welcome Joyce Carol Oates

The F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee has announced that Joyce Carol Oates, a two-time nominee for the Nobel Prize in Literature, will be a guest speaker at its

Oct. 2 and 3 conference.

Called one of America's most versatile, serious writers, Oates is the author of a number of distinguished books in several genres, all published within the past 25 years. In addition to numerous novels and short story collections, she has published several volumes of poetry, books of plays, five books of literary criticism, and the book-length essay "On Boxing."

Her writing has earned her much praise and many awards, including the PEN/Malamud Award for Excellence in short fiction, the Rosenthal Award from the American Academy - Institute of Arts and Letters, a Guggenheim Fellowship, the O'Henry Prize for Continued Achievement in the Short Story, the National Book Award for her novel Them, and in 1978, membership in the American Academy-Institute. Her work, "What I Lived For," was nominated for the 1995 PEN/Faulkner Award.

Oates' recent novels include "Man Crazy" (Dutton, Sept. 1997), "Double Delight" (Dutton, June 1997), "Zombie" (1995), "We Were the Mulvaney's" (Dutton, 1996), "Tenderness" (Ontario Review, 1996), "Will You Always Love Me? And Other Short Stories by Joyce Carol Oates" (1996), "What I Lived For" (1994), "Haunted: Tales of the Grotesque" (1994), "Where Are You Going, Where Have You Been? Selected Short Stories by Joyce Carol Oates" (1993), and "Foxfire: Confessions of a Girl Gang" (1993).

City of Rockville Offers Project Management Internship

The City of Rockville is seeking a self-motivated, creative graduate student interested in gaining experience in project management to fill the position of Project Management Intern for the Recreation and Parks' Arts Division. This position would require a commitment to participate through Oct. 31, 1998, with a significant time commitment throughout September.

The starting date is negotiable. However, a date in May is preferable. The selected applicant must attend the Third Annual F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference at the Rockville campus of Montgomery College on Friday, Oct. 2, and Saturday, Oct. 3.

In exchange, the City is prepared to provide a supervised Project Management internship, eligible for academic credit through the summer session. A stipend of $3,000 will be awarded by the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee to compensate for required time commitments that exceed the academic semester.

The primary responsibility of the Project Management Intern will be to provide staff support for the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee. Duties include: creating and distributing numerous forms of publicity; managing phone calls and correspondence requesting information on both the Literary Conference and the Short Story Contests; maintaining a complete database of all inquiries for information; keeping thorough records of ticket sales; and coordinating and overseeing conference logistics. The intern also may be required to perform other duties as assigned.

The City of Rockville has an award-winning communications team consisting of the Graphics and Printing Division, the Public Information Office, and the News and Information Division. The intern will have access to this in-house expertise in the development of publicity and conference materials.

Excellent writing and oral communication skills are a must. Applicants must have an appreciation for the professional work environment and must be self directed.

Submit resume and additional materials to Betty Wisda, Arts Programs Supervisor, by April 17. Send information to: Glenview Mansion at Rockville Civic Center Park, 603 Edmonston Drive, Rockville, MD 20851. Call 301-309-3357 for more information.

ATTENTION Young Writers!

The F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee Invites High School Writers to Submit a Short Story to its Annual Short Story Contest

In 1998, the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee is adding a short story contest for high school students to its event. Here are the rules:

- Short story entries submitted by high school students must be postmarked by June 15, 1998.
- The contest is open to students who are residents or attend school in Montgomery County.
- Entries must be typed, double-spaced, no longer than 3,000 words, no shorter than 1,000 words, and commercially unpublished.
- All entries must include a cover sheet that includes the writer's name, address, and telephone number, as well as the writer's school, grade, and teacher's name. The writer's name should NOT appear on subsequent pages of the story. The cover sheets will be removed at Rockville City Hall and each entry will be assigned a number before it is given to the judges. All entries will be assigned for judging.
- All pages should be numbered, starting with page one after the cover sheet.
- Entrants who would like their story returned must send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

First prize will be $200 plus free admission to the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference on Saturday, Oct. 3, 1998, at Montgomery College, in Rockville. The winning entry will be printed in the conference brochure, and the writer will be recognized at the conference. Three runner-up prizes of $50 each also will be awarded. Winners can expect to be notified the week of Sept. 21, 1998.

Entries should be sent to: F. Scott Fitzgerald Student Story Contest, Rockville City Hall, 111 Maryland Ave., Rockville, MD 20850.

The contest is sponsored by the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference Committee supported by Peerless Rockville Historic Preservation Ltd., the City of Rockville, the F. Scott Fitzgerald Society, Montgomery College, the Writer's Center, the Gazette Newspapers, the Rockville Cultural Arts Commission, and the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Noontime Serenades

Noteworthy Clarinet Quartet of Rockville, and Richmond Symphony Orchestra. Members belong to the Rockville Concert Band, a volunteer musical organization, celebrating its 40th season.

On May 27, National Chamber Orchestra String Quartet will be the final performance of the series. Established in 1985, the National Chamber Orchestra is the metropolitan area's premiere professional chamber orchestra. Programs include a repertoire of classical orchestral pieces from the past 300 years.

This spring series is sponsored by the Arts Division of the Department of Recreation and Parks and is funded through a Maryland State Arts Council grant.

For more information, call 301-309-3340.

Rockville Presents the National Chamber Orchestra String Institute

Here's a great opportunity for budding musicians. For the first time, Rockville is offering the National Chamber Orchestra String Institute as part of its Summer Camp program. The new camp will run from Aug. 17 through Aug. 21, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the F. Scott Fitzgerald Theatre and Social Hall.

This intensive advanced study for violinists, violists, cellists, and double bassists includes daily string orchestra rehearsals with National Chamber Orchestra (NCO) Conductor Piotr Gajewski. Also included is chamber music coaching and two private lessons with Institute faculty. In addition to Maestro Gajewski,

1998 City of Rockville Arts Awards

The Annual Rockville Arts Awards have been established to encourage and honor artistic excellence in its many forms, as well as to honor those who have significantly nurtured the furtherance of the arts in Rockville. It is the intent of the City to recognize individuals, arts organizations, and arts patrons (corporate and private) for their exemplary involvement in and support to the arts.

Arts Awards Categories

- Rockville high school students (9-12) for achievement in the performing (theatre, dance, and music), visual, and literary arts. Presented to individual students who have demonstrated outstanding accomplishments in one of the art forms listed above. Students must either live in or attend school within the corporate limits of the City of Rockville.
- Volunteer support to the arts in Rockville. Presented to an individual or organization providing support to the arts through ongoing efforts or a special arts project for which no financial compensation for provision of time and talents was received.
- Corporate and business support to the arts in Rockville. Presented to a business that has made a major contribution to the arts in Rockville via: financial support, in-kind service, arts-related programming, provision of facility use to an arts group, enhancement of a public space with a public art project, or other arts related efforts that have benefited the community.
- Life-time achievement for work with the visual, performing, or literary arts. Presented to an individual who has consistently made significant contributions to the arts either through excellence in the creation of an art form (visual, performing, or literary) or through support to the arts in Rockville.

Nomination Process

Completed nomination form must be submitted by the 5 p.m., Sept. 4, 1998:

Rockville Arts Awards Nomination
Glenview Mansion at Rockville Civic Center Park
603 Edmonston Drive
Rockville, MD 20851

Note: No individuals or organizations may nominate themselves.

Selection Process

An independent panel of knowledgeable and distinguished representatives of the regional arts community, businesses, schools, and City of Rockville Cultural Arts Commission will review all nominations and select the 1998 awardees. Winners will receive their awards at the City of Rockville Arts Awards Gala on Oct. 9 at the F. Scott Fitzgerald Theatre.

Note: All awards are determined at the discretion of the panel. The panel is under no obligation to make an award in each category or limit to only one award in any given category.

For more information

Call Betty Wisda at 301-309-3357 or 301-309-3340 to request a nomination form be sent to you. Please leave your name and address on the voice mail.
